Total loss of your vehicle can leave you with unexpected costs

If you lose your vehicle to theft, fire or an accident before you've finished paying for it, you may be stuck with negative equity.

Your vehicle will have depreciated in value and your primary auto insurer may not cover everything you expected. This could leave you owing the difference between your remaining car payments and what your vehicle is now worth (negative equity). This could be thousands of dollars – the GAP program covers that!

Our GAP program will be your equalizer

GAP picks up the tab for the difference between what your primary auto insurer will pay and your remaining vehicle loan – up to $50,000. After all, nobody wants to make payments on a car they no longer have.

Here's how it works:

Vehicle loan	$50,000
What you owe	$34,900
What your vehicle is now worth	– $27,900
Your remaining balance and no car to drive	$7,000

Cover your assets

While it's easy to think that the unexpected will never happen to you, the statistics are staggering. Last year alone over 85,000 cars were stolen in Canada, and few are ever recovered. Auto loans with negative equity have risen 50% with an average amount of $6,700 carried by consumers.*

Protect your credit and drive with peace of mind. Global's got you covered!

- New and used cars, including leases
- Loans up to $125,000
